When Mr. Gibbons arrived to take un the position of Registrar and Official Assignee he commenced the cleansing of the Angean stable he found, but he met with scant encouragement, in fact with no encouragement at all, but very great discouragement from the then Chief Justice. Sir JOHN SHALE, indeed, frequently expressed his opinion that, the creditors must always be held responsible for the conduct of a bankruptcy, and inferentially, that if the creditors did not move, it was as well to let things alone. While no doubt the supineness of creditors must to tations of the country. a considerable extent be held responsible for the neglect which had been the rule with regard to bankrupteies, on the other hand it may fairly be argued that if the state throws the protection of the Bankruptcy Act around defaulting debtors, it ought to exercise rex-

The complainant said that on the day in question the defendant and two other men engaged his boat at Shaukiwan to carry them over to Chai Wan, outside the Ly-eo-moon Fass. Complainant's wife and daughter were the only others with him in the beat. When they had reached a place called Pak Sho Wan, about a quarter of the way noress the Pass, the prisoner got him and caused him to look round by pretending to call attention to another boat, and then soized him by the queue and rubbed some powder on his nose which made him feel giddy, so that he could not hold his head up. The prisoner proceeded to drag him into the hold, and when he struggled, out his finger with a knife, and with the assistance of the other man, he and his wife and daughter were forced below. They heard there the mon breaking open their hoxes, and when at length the thieves departed, and they and that all their property, worth about $24, had been stolen. On the 6th inst. the complainant was in the Shaukiwan market when he caught sight of the prisoner, and saw that he was wearing a jacket which was part of the pro- tice Ramsey, of the Supreme Court, being apperty stolen from the boat. charged with being concerned in the matter. The complainant alleged that on the 31st January, before going to bed, she fastened up her room properly, but having occasion to get up at 3 o'clock the next morning, she found an entrance had been effected to her room through the smoke bole by someone, who had broken open her boxes and taken jewellory and clothing to the amount stated in the charge. The third prisoner was frequently in the house to see a relation-who lived there, and he and the first defendant had both been in her room. Shoreported the matter to the police, and P.S. Bas went to the premises and found a ladder in the kitchen up to the smoke hole, which was open to the roof. He found a small piece of blue cord on the roof, and fresh marks on the smokehole. He sent a constable into the street to watch the door, and he watched at the smokehole until the constable had entered the house. Rae then went down, and in a room on the second floor he found the constable and the first and third prisoners, and the second came in a few minutes afterwards. The room was searched, and two bundles of the missing clothes were found and identified by the complainant, who also renognised the piace of blue cord found on the roof. The fourth prisoner was arrested upon private information received, but none of the stolen property was found in his possession. It was then found that the first and second prisoners lived in the house, and the third and fourth paid them a visit on the 31st ult, and slept in the house that night. The landlady of the top foor was aroused early the next morning by the sound of someone going downstairs, and she got up and found that the second and fourth prisoners had left the house, after a reward-further information led to the searching of the fifth prisoner's house, and there some more clothing was found which the complainant identified as part of her missing property, and the woman confessed that her mother, the second prisoner, left them there on the morning of the robbery. The sixth prisoner was seen leaving the house, but no notice was taken of him at the time, but later on he was arrested and a quantity of pawn tickets were found on him one of which referred to some more of the stolen propert and this the man said he picked up on the Re creation Ground.

The fourth prisoner was recognized as an offender, baving been in gool five times since 1976 The prisoners were committed for trial at the Supreme Court.
